Emergency Response

Ready, Willing, and Able to Help

First Responders are on the scene quickly to assess the situation and must have the on-the-go supplies ready.

Showing up at an auto accident or a public incident calls for first responders to react quickly and be ready to help with on-the-go mobile trauma first aid supplies.

Did You Know?

Five to 10 arc flash explosions occur in electric equipment every day in the United States.

This number does not include cases in which the victim is sent to an ordinary hospital.

Instead, these incidents are so severe the victims require treatment from a special burn center.
